Somerset, PA - The Friends of Flight 93 National Memorial are pleased to announce three new members joining the Board of Directors in January 2018. With the addition of the new directors, the nonprofit partner of Flight 93 National Memorial will expand its skill set, professional talent support and community outreach to continue the story of Flight 93.

The Friends are proud to welcome Jody Greene, a Flight 93 family member whose father Donald Greene was on board Flight 93 on September 11, 2001; David Finui, Senior Vice President, Personal Trust and Financial Services Manager for Ameriserv Corporation; and Edward Sheehan, Jr., President and CEO of Concurrent Technologies Corporation (CTC).

Ms. Greene expands the Friends presence to the Washington D.C. area, and replaces outgoing President Patrick White's representation of the Families of Flight 93 within the organization. Ms. Greene graduated Magna Cum Laude from George Washington University and currently works as a digital associate for the Moak Group. Her expertise in marketing and digital mediums will be a great asset to the organization.

Mr. Finui is bringing his financial expertise to the board and has also accepted the position as Assistant Treasurer. Mr. Finui lives locally and also serves on the Board of Directors of the Fiduciary Education Foundation, Financial Planners Association of America (Pittsburgh Chapter member), Excelsa Health, Greensburg, PA, Foundation Board, Past President of the Somerset Rotary Club, Somerset Exchange Club and Indian Lake Golf Club.

Mr. Sheehan, Jr. is well known in the Cambria/Somerset area for his extensive philanthropy. He was also named in the "Top 100 Business Leaders" by Pennsylvania Business Central and brings his expertise level to the Friends of Flight 93 after much support in the past from CTC for annual events such as the September 11 Observance.

Since incorporating in 2009, the Friends have attracted over 400 members from across the country. The Friends have successfully competed for grants over the past year to continue operations, marketing and tourism support, as well as provide volunteers for many park projects and annual events, and sponsored educational programs like the new Speaker Series. Over the past year, the Friends board raised funds for the Tower of Voices, educational programming and upcoming projects like the Temporary Memorial Trail to begin construction next year.
