FRIENDS OF FLIGHT 93 NATIONAL MEMORIAL ANNOUNCES
FOUR HEROES AWARD FINALISTS
First national recipient to be named Friday, Sept. 10

SOMERSET, PA (Sept. 7, 2021) – The Friends of Flight 93 National Memorial today announced four finalists for the first annual Flight 93 Heroes Award. The group will name the selected honoree of the award on Friday, Sept. 10, a day before the 20th anniversary of 9/11.

These are the first nominees ever selected for the award that honors the courageous actions of the 40 passengers and crew members onboard Flight 93 who thwarted a terrorist attack on Sept. 11, 2001. Their plane crashed into a field near Shanksville, Pa nearly 20 years ago.

Donna Gibson, president of the Friends of Flight 93 National Memorial, said nominations came from all over the country.

“We are pleased to highlight the bravery of these four individuals, who are everyday people who in a crisis took action, just like those on board Flight 93,” she said.

Emily Schenkel’s godmother, Flight Attendant Lorraine Bay, was on the plane that fateful day. Schenkel said, “the Flight 93 Heroes Award is vitally important to help keep the memory of Flight 93 alive.” She added that over 75 million people have been born since September 11, 2001 and have no living memory of that day, nor the incredible acts of heroism made by the Flight 93 passengers and crew members.

“I want people to remember the bravery of my godmother and the other passengers and crew members that day,” said Schenkel. “Their legacy and contribution to American history must be preserved.”

The nominee selection panel included families of the passengers and crew members of Flight 93 and representatives from the Friends of Flight 93 National Memorial board, the National Park Service and National Park Foundation.

All of the entities engaged in the effort support the memorial and work to keep alive the memory of the 40 Flight 93 passengers and crew members. The National Park Foundation, for example, contributed more than $45 million from over 110,000 donors to support the Flight 93 National Memorial and helped to establish the Friends of Flight 93 National Memorial.
